

[0037]

Test Example (thermal stability test)

Compounds 1 to 17 corresponding to the reducing materials used in the present invention and compounds 1 to 8 corresponding to the reducing materials used in the prior art (WO98/06682) were preserved in the atmosphere of 105°C, respectively, to measure the relation of their left-standing time and the weight loss ratio. The result was shown in Table 2.